A REPORT: A VISIT TO T.S. GOVT. COLLEGE RECKONG PEO DISTT.
KINNAUR HIMACHAL PRADESH

Date: 24 NOV, 2025

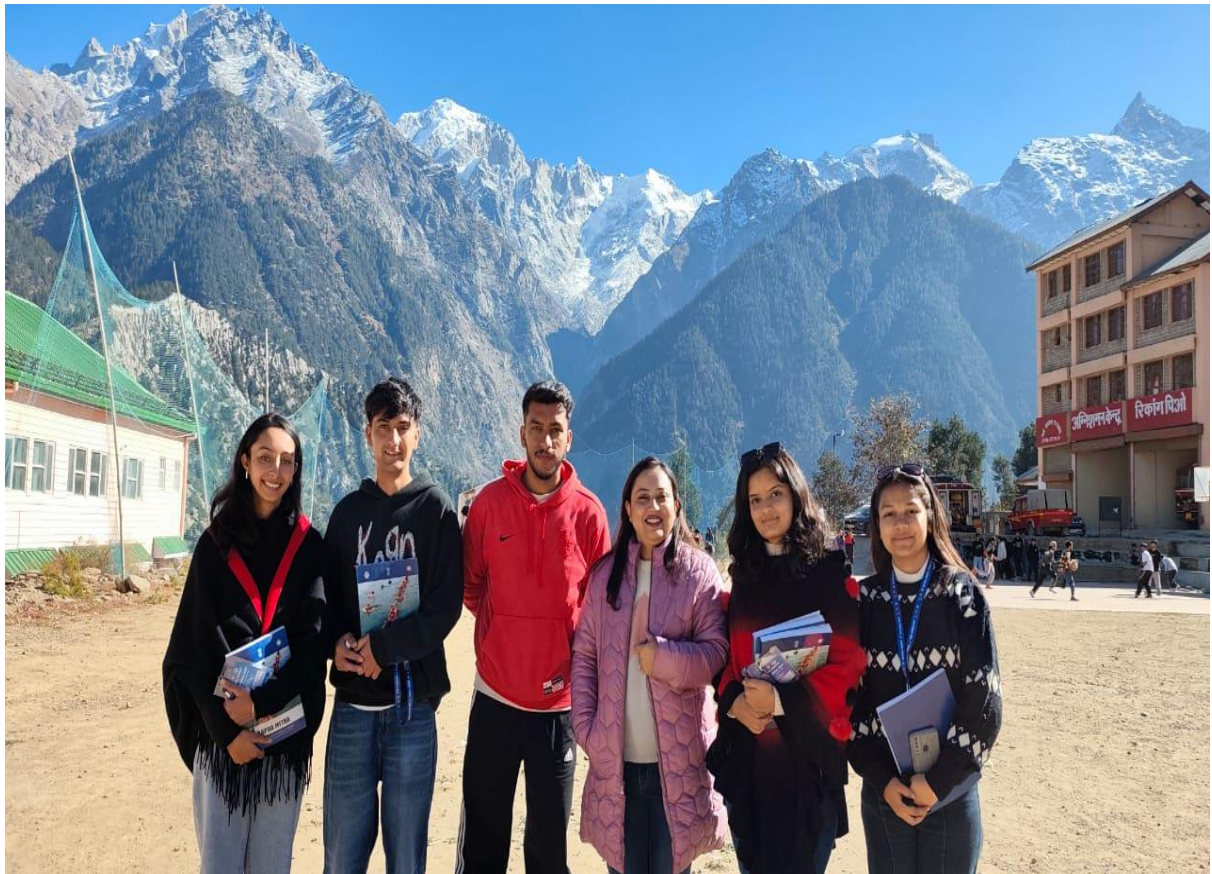

During our field survey visit to District Kinnaur, we students of the Geography Department received an unexpected yet enriching opportunity when a nearby college extended a spontaneous invitation to us. Under the leadership of Dr. Mona Sharma, we gladly accepted the invitation and attended an interactive academic session on 20th November 2025 with Geography Professor Dr. Dharam Kirti and his students.

The session was meaningful, engaging, and conducted in a friendly, collaborative environment. Discussions focused on the cultural features of Kinnaur, climatic conditions, human environment relationships, and various contemporary issues related to mountainous and tribal regions. Our students participated actively, sharing their observations and raising insightful questions, particularly about the socio-economic and cultural patterns of high-altitude regions.

As a gesture of academic goodwill and collaboration, the host institution presented us with a book titled “AAPDA MITRA”. This thoughtful token not only symbolized appreciation but also strengthened the sense of mutual respect and academic bonding between the institutions. Following the session, we were given a tour of the entire college campus, where we had the opportunity to interact with the staff and students of various departments at T.S. Government College, Reckong Peo.

In conclusion, the visit proved to be insightful, interactive, and highly beneficial in enhancing both our field-based and academic understanding within the discipline of Geography. The focused group discussions held during the interaction will undoubtedly assist us in the effective compilation of our field survey report.
