First story based on Kinnaur , no share of father's property is given to the daughter child

Women don't get anything from the parents side and not from their husbands side .

The widows in the kinnaur don't get any support from any one .

They have to be totally dependent on their son's and their brother's.

If there is any person who don't have any son then their parts of property goes to their brother or uncles

- Movie on Breaking ice

In 2018 when our PM Sh Narendra Modi tweeted and congratulated a girl from Himachal Pradesh who has brought first Bronze medal to India in Skiing. She was not expecting that she will get a warm welcome in her country for her achievement because this was the sport which was not even recognized in India. After her victory now everyone is serious about this sport. Dicky Dolma who was the youngest girl to climb Mount Everest in 1993 has also inspired many girls towards adventure sports. Bhuvneshvari Thakur who was winning gold medal in National championship for ten years is now training young children for this sport. Sandhya Thakur is the budding Skier dreaming to be at the top of this sport. These four women has given new heights to adventure sports and inspiring other girls to
